Description

While building a learning path you can add several other complex content objects. I added a glossary, a forum and a sublearning path.

If I want to modify the glossary and forum a pop-up appears.

If I want to modify the sub learning path the content of the current learning path is changed. Shouldn't that appear in a pop-up too?

I guess we could show it in a popup, there's no technical reason why it's not possible ... although it could create a somewhat lengthy chain of popups if you have several nested learning paths. At any rate it's all the same to me.
