I think I know what Furio meant here. We're talking about creating a document in the learning path and say "store it in this directory" straight away. So far, creating a document in a learning path only ever creates it in the corresponding directory (the one of the learning path). However, as we have improved a little bit the documents creation interface in the learning path, this task has to be reviewed.

Did not have time to implement this. Moving to next version, otherwise won't be releasing a 1.9 anytime soon.
