Very annoying issue here. Some users want browse first, others want create first. Maybe we should just make this a user setting to make all the users happy.

Would make sense indeed. Would be nice to make the default a platform setting.

For example at the beginning we will have a lot of people adding contents as they work. So for us it will be nice to default to "Create first". Then we can switch to "Browse first" when people get used to creating content first.
