It would be convenient if alle the icons of the objects were used in the portfolio. Now it only the 'document'-icon is used, which is quite confusing.

is it possible you fixed this with a select list? (see screenshot 1). If you did, I suggest that you stick to the other builders (see screenshot 2)

We are talking about 2 different things I think. I interpreted this request differently. I changed the visualisation of the portfolio menu-tree so that the icons represent the actual content types instead of getting the default "document" icon (see screenshot of old and new tree). Maybe the original poster of the issue can clarify.

Seeing that screenshot explains why all of a sudden most trees were looking somewhat weird. You're using the wrong size of icons Nathalie :) Trees use the 16x16 size in the common/treemenu_types/ folder.
