I put an example survey using all 9 functions/options on the unstable.chamilo.org platform, under "alia's course". Very nice.

Here are a couple of observations:

1. When trying to copy the survey I get a fatal error.

2. In my opinion it is important that the "Performance" question and the "dropdown" question have a "=" as the default answer otherwise the margin of error will dramatically increase with survey results. The Percentage question already has a "=" as the default answer (which is good).

Many thanx for your time.

Forgot:

1. The "comments" question on the survey is not working for me., and
2. I am not sure if the "new page"/"section" title is supposed to show up on the survey. Currently, it is not visible, and
3. It would be helpful if there were a function for "required" questions.

cheers.

Hi R,

Changes have been sent to unstable.chamilo.org for you to check (when you get the chance). Please let us know if that works out for you.

Greetings.

You guys are magicians. Here are my comments on the updates to surveys:

1. When trying to copy the survey I get a fatal error: Fixed

2. In my opinion it is important that the "Performance" question and the "dropdown" question have a "=" as the default answer otherwise the margin of error will dramatically increase with survey results. The Percentage question already has a "=" as the default answer (which is good). Fixed. This small detail makes for a much more reliable survey instrument.

3. The "comments" question on the survey is not working for me. Fixed. Thank you,

3. I am not sure if the "new page"/"section" title is supposed to show up on the survey. Currently, it is not visible. Not fixed, but no big deal. It is common on surveys that we split surveys by section title (not just page break). For example: Section 1: Background, Section 2: Past Experience, Section 3: Future Needs. I suggest that this be a feature for 2.0

4. It would be helpful if there were a function for "required" questions. "I was not clear enough with what I might about this (having some questions being optional and others being mandatory). Perhaps this could be a feature in 2.0.

5. A further suggestion for a feature in 2.0: Add a pdf and/or txt print function so that we can 1). Distribute draft versions for review by non-Chamilo users and 2). Distribute the same survey for filling out to those who do not have access to the internet.

I suggest to close this ticket as, in my opinion, all is nicely resolved. Cheers.*

We will check that.

In general, feel free to create more tasks (as long as you don't assign a version or a person yourself). This allows for a clear distribution and management (whereas suggesting one in another that is about to get closed is almost a guarantee of leaving the suggestion to die :-) ).

Thanks for suggesting, by the way! No guarantee we will do it, but we will consider it.

Closing because the section-title recommendation is actually really difficult to implement at this stage. Please report as a new feature request if you'd like to see that implemented in 2.0.
