Description
Create a drag&drop matching question
Add 3 possibilities for the left part.
Add 4 possibilities for the right part.
Take the test.
An element called "Array[something]" or something like that appears at the bottom of the 3 first possibilities on the right side.

Fixed
But with 3 options in the left part and 4 in the right part, the question can't be solved

#2 - 13/10/2015 00:19 - Yannick Warnier
Just limit the form to create the question, so that the teacher is forced to choose the same number of proposals than of answers.
We can extend this for a later version.

Tested and approved. Some minor issues remain, like the fact that if you don't select any answer, you still see the right comments, but it's really minor and I'm not sure how this should be properly solved.
