In a quiz, when adding an introduction to the quiz, this introduction remains visible and unfolded for each new question. It should appear folded up to avoid causing distraction to the students.

- create a quiz with a (short) description and all options by default.
- create one question
- enter the quiz (preview mode) as teacher
- the description appears. Click "Start quiz"
- on the first question page, the description block appears unfolded. Normally it should be very discretely folded up to avoid showing the same content to the user each time. This is only there to check if you've forgotten the rules of the exam.

Hello Yannick,

I agree that the description can be distracting in probably most cases. HOWEVER, in certain cases it is highly convenient to have it showing. For example in exams in all questions are on 1 page and in which the student must listen to an ongoing audio tape or read a large transcript. Thus, I would suggest that this be an OPTION (show / hide). Thank you.

Hi,

The description does show before you start the test, and is still available (just folded) while taking it. The issue here is that is always shows full-size, and that is an issue because you have to scroll. Adding an option is an issue because it implies adding a new field in the database, which we can only do when moving from one major version to the next (every 2 years or so), for stability reasons.

So no option this time, sorry ;-)

Fixed!

- Status changed from Needs testing to Assigned
- Assignee set to Angel Quiroz
- % Done changed from 100 to 80

It would be better if the whole div containing the "Description" title would be clickable.

#6 - 17/02/2016 18:22 - Angel Quiroz
- Assignee changed from Angel Quiroz to Alex Aragon

Not fully clickable due to the style of the panel
